

DR SEÁN FOY

Sean has worked in the caring profession for over 25 years. During that time he has worked with a wide range of people, he has worked with people experiencing homelessness in London for over 10 years and also worked in Ireland in a drugs service working with both people under 18 years of age and over 18. He currently works as a clinical psychologist working within a mental health service in Ireland. Throughout all of his addiction work he has used the teachings of solution focused brief therapy and harm reduction. He holds a Doctorate in Clinical Psychology (NUI, Galway), a Masters in Addiction Studies (Middlesex University), an Honours degree in Social Work (Metropolitan University, London) and Honours degree in Counselling and Psychotherapy (Middlesex University), a Diploma in Drug Dependence (The Maudsley Hospital London), and a Higher Diploma in Education (Bristol University of the West of England).

Sean is an adjunct lecturer at NUI Galway on the Masters in Social Work and the Clinical Doctorate in Psychology and is a frequent guest lecturer with the school of Social Work faculty in the London Metropolitan University. He has delivered presentations to a variety of international conferences and continues to be involved in research.